MEETS DEATH IN BLUE RIVER

Carl Bryant, Age 24, of Zanesville, Ohio, Bricklayer For Adams Co., Drowns.

BODY COMES TO SURFACE ONCE

Eyewitnesses Dive For His Body and Recover it Before Life is Extinct.

The first drowning of the season for this city was recorder yesterday afternoon, when Carl Bryant, age twenty-four, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bryant of Zanesville, Ohio, met his death in Big Blue river, near Blue River Park, which is located about a quarter of a mile west of Morristown. Bryant went to the camp of the local Eagles' lodge yesterday to spend the day and he was drowned while in swimming. He had been employed here for some time by the Adams Construction Company of Zanesville as a brick layer.

Although Bryant's death will al- ways be called a drowning because he went under while in the water and was apparently seized with the cramps, physicians who examined his body believe that was not the di- rect cause of his death. Doctors say that it is highly probable that he had bursted a blood vessel after he had the cramps. Blood flowed from Bry- ant's mouth after he was taken out of the water and efforts were made to revive his respiration.

The fact that Bryant's body was in the water only a few minutes after he was seen to go down and after he had called for help, led doctors who examined his body to suspect that the direct cause of his death was not drowning. Another peculiar circum- stance connected with the accident was that Bryant's body never came above the water but once after he first went down.

It is said that Bryant had a chew of tobacco in his mouth and doctors declare that he may have been strangled on that, which may have resulted in the bursting of a blood vessel. The fact that he went down the second time after he had called for help and did not come up leads physicians to believe beyond any reasonable doubt that the direct cause of his death was not drowning, although the cramps may have caused him to go under the water the first time.

Another theory has been advanced as the cause for the death of Bryant. It has been said since the drowning that his demise may have been caused from heart trouble. He is said to have been subject to heart attacks and suffered a very severe one only a short time ago. It was said today that a brother of Bryant's met his death by drowning a year and a half ago.

Bryant went out to the camp yes- terday morning with some other men on the ten o'clock I. & C. car. He ate a hearty dinner and was apparently in good spirits, according to men who were at the camp. During the after- noon he went swimming in the river near the camp and just under the I. & C. bridge, which crosses the river.

Bryant was standing in about four feet of water when a man on the bridge who had been watching the swimmer called to him that he had better come in. It was not many sec- onds after that that Bryant's body doubled up and went under the wa- ter. Eyewitnesses to the scene did not think anything of the incident and just supposed that he was diving under the water although some of them have since said they thought that he went under in a strange man- ner.

CARR TRIAL POSTPONED

Cases Will be Tried Next Monday Afternoon.

The cases of the State vs. O. L. Carr and John Carr were postponed this morning by Special Judge Cary Carson until next Monday afternoon, on Motion of Wallace Morgan, who has been retained as council for the defendants. Mr. Morgan desired further time to investigate the evi- dence and the court granted his re- quest. The cases were to be tried this afternoon.

IS POISONED BY CANNED SARDINES

Bert Casady of Indianapolis, For- merly of This City, Contracts Ptcmaine Poisoning and Dies.

HE IS SURVIVED BY A WIDOW

Bert Casady, formerly of this city, died at his home in Indianapolis on Saturday evening of ptomaine pois- oning, contracted from eating can- ned food stuff. Relatives of the de- ceased here were notified of his de- mise yesterday.

Mr. Casady ate some canned sar- dines Friday evening for supper, ac- cording to the word received, and that night became suddenly ill with ptomaine poisoning. He gradually grew worse until Saturday evening when the end came. The funeral will be Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, with services at the St. Phil- ip Neri church at 9 a. m. Friends may view the remains Tuesday, 2 to 10 p. m. Burial private.

The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Casady, who for- merly lived here and who are exten- sively related in this city and coun- ty. He was a nephew of J. W. Casa- dy and Mrs J. W. Pearsey. Mr. Casady was employed in the L. S. Ayres dry goods store at the time of his death. He is survived by a widow.

THIEVES LOOT THE BOX OFFICE

THE ROBBERS ARE SUSPECTED

Saturday night thieves looted the box office at the chautauqua grounds of all the valuables which were left there over night. The goods stolen included mostly things which had been lost on the grounds and found and returned to the box office until the owners were found. Among the things stolen Saturday night was a very valuable solid gold bracelet, the owner of which had never been found. The other things taken were of no value and consisted of small trinkets and a small amount of money tied up in a handkerchief.

This is not the first time that the box office has been entered as it was broken into one night last week but nothing of value was missing. One of the campers thought she heard the thieves at work Saturday evening, but paid no attention to the distur- bance. Chautauqua managers believe that they can recover the stolen property with the aid of the police as they suspect some persons of the crime.

CHAUTAUQUA TO PAY THIS YEAR

Officers Believe That Largest Surplus Yet Will be Left This Year.

GATE RECEIPTS ARE SMALLER

Four Big Days as is Proved by the Crowds and Single Admission Tickets Sold.

That this year's chautauqua will leave a larger surplus, even though the gate receipts have not been so great, is the opinion of the officers of the Rush County Chautauqua As- sociation, expressed this morning. The talent this year was not so ex- pensive as it was last year and they had no days this year which com- pared with Bryan day last year, when $511 was taken in in single admis- sions. The receipts were large that day, due to the fact that fifty cent single admission was charged. The crowd was about the size of the one which heard McConnell here this year.

When the annual assembly was started this year, the chautauqua as- sociation had $250 in the bank. Two hundred dollars of that amount was made clear of all expenses on last year's assembly while the remainder was cleared the year previous to that. It is believed that this year's surplus will amount to more than the combined surplus of the two previ- ous years.

There were four big days this year in point of attendance as well as in point of the manner in which the crowd was pleased. They were the first day, when Edward Amherst Ott gave two addresses; Tuesday, when Lincoln McConnell gave two lectures; Thursday, when the Hinshaw Grand Opera Company gave two concerts, and Sunday, when Madison C. Peters gave two addresses.

That these days were the largest and most popular ones is attested by the gate receipts. Sunday, the first day, the amount of single admissions was $183, Tuesday, they were $271- 90, Thursday they were $165 and yesterday they were $217.

The association will not have to pay the expense of tent hire this year as it has always had to in the past. That will reduce the expenses by $160. There are other expenses which were cut down this year so that this will aid, along with the fact that the talent was not so expensive, in making the surplus greater. When the association is once on a paying basis, and the coliseum is paid for, the program committee will be able to "cut loose," as it were, and get the best which the lycennm bureaus have to offer.

Although the crowd was small, one of the rare treats of the chautauqua was the delineations of Charles Dickens' characters by William Ster- ling Battis Saturday night. He is conceded to be by far the best im- personator which ever graced the chautauqua platform here. His change in make-up was hurriedly and excellently made and the persons who the famous novelist gave life were as life-like and real as though they lived and breathed before the audience. He was probably best as Sidney Car- lton from "The Tale of Two Cities."

The people of Great Britain con- sume less tobacco a head than any other civilized people of the world.

LARGEST HORSE IS COMING HERE

Imperted Moroccan Stallion, Which Weighs 2850 Pounds Will be on Exhibition at Fair.

CANNOT BE HAULED IN BOX CAR

Other Attractions, Including Slide for Life, Are Arranged--Boys' Stock Judging Contest.

That the Rush county fair will be "bigger and better" than ever is ap- parent as the secretary, Will L. King, has engaged more attractions and has the promise of more concessions and fast horses that they will be here next week than ever before in the history of the fair association. Besides the attractions that have al- ready been announced, the secretary has arranged during the last few days for two added features which promise to be as much out of the or- dinary as anything which ever ap- peared at the fair.

Last week while at New Castle Mr. King arranged with the owner of the largest horse in the world to show here. The horse is such a monster and such a fine appearing animal that he feared that members of the board of directors of the fair asso- ciation would not believe him if he attempted to describe the unusual horse. So he took Will L. Brown, president of the fair board, and Omer Stevens, a director, to New Castle. They saw the horse and now they stand solemnly by and take an oath that Mr. King is telling the truth when he describes the unusual horse.

The three men measured the horse, whose name is Morocco, and found that he is seven feet and two inches tall. He is as long as he is tall and has a flank girth of the same meas- urement. His heart girth is eight feet, they say. Omer Stevens de- clares that he stood on his tiptoes and yet could not touch the top of the horse's shoulders. He is a handsome chestnut sorrel and is well propor- tioned. The directors who saw him declare that a special car must be obtained to haul him as he can not be loaded in an ordinary box car. He weighs 2,850. He was imported to this country from Morocco to be shown at the world's fair at St. Louis and has been here since that time. Morocco's sire was a Percher- on and his dam was of Arabian blood. The animal was shown at New Castle last week and is at Mun- cie this week.

Another attraction which has been added during the last few days is a slide for life. A man will slide by his teeth from the highest point in the fair grounds to the field in the center of the race track.

Fair directors declare that too much emphasis can not be placed on the boys' stock judging contest which will take place this year. This is an added feature at the fair and is ob- tained by the association only at a great cost. For that reason the mem- bers of the fair board believe that the boys of the county should take ad- vantage of it. A special instructor trains the entrants how to judge stock and then they are permitted to do the judging of the stock. Those who award the prizes best according to the judge's opinions will be award- ed the special prizes for this con- test.

The members of the fair board wish it distinctly understood that there is absolutely no entrance fee for the contest and that it is free to any boy in the county. Boys between the ages of fifteen and twenty are eligible and the members of the board have found that there are two hun- dred and eight boys in Rush county of that age. They believe that at least fifty boys should try for the prizes. It is merely an opportunity for the young farmers of the county to learn free of charge some of the good points of stock of all kinds and the manner in which to judge them.

The members of the fair board say that too much importance can not be attached to probably the best free attraction at this year's fair. That is the driving of Little Ruth Fear of Shelbyville who has her own stable of horses. She will attempt to break the local track record at each day of the fair.

The Indianapolis News' Newsboys' band will be a big attraction on the last day of the fair. The Rushville band will play Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the fair.

ALL IN READINESS FOR LECTURE TRAIN

Circular on Topic, "How to Grow More and Better Wheat" Will be Given Out.

SPECIAL TO BE HERE AUG. 23

All arrangements have been com- pleted and everything is now in readiness for the wheat improvement lecture train which will be operated over the Big Four lines August 21-29. Purdue University has collected new data on the many lines connected with this subject, and is ready to give the best information ever offered on wheat improvement.

A special circular on "How to Grow More and Better Wheat" has been prepared, and copies of this will be given everyone who meets the train. This circular is credited as being the best of its kind ever pre- pared by any State. Every farmer should obtain a copy.

Reports from the communities through which the train will run indi- cate that there will be an extra large attendance of farmers at every stop. Farmers are interested in this sub- ject and will be glad to receive in- formation. The train will be here at 9:45 o'clock on Wednesday morn- ing, August 23.

RECOVER VALUABLE THINGS

People Who Lose Belongings Get Them at Box Office.

Many dollars worth of valuable belongings were lost during the chautauqua, most of which were re- covered by the rightful owners. In most cases the finders took the things to the box office where people called for them. Last evening a very val- uable purse was lost, found and re- covered at the box office by the owner in a short time. Bracelets, umbrellas and numerous other things have been recovered during the week after hav- ing been taken to the box office by the finders.

IS PLACED ON COMMITTEE

State Board of Charities Appoints Joseph L. Cowing.

Joseph Cowing of this city has re- ceived notice of his appointment by the State Board of Charities to the committee on State's wards. This committee is one of the most import- ant ones connected with the State Board of Charities. Mr. Cowing has taken an active interest in this work and is in direct touch with the affairs of the State Board by being a trustee of the East Haven asylum for the insane. The Rev. Owen S. Odel of the Second Presbyterian church, Indian- apolis, is chairman of the committee.

DISPLAYS TALENT IN TWO LECTURES

Dr. Madison C. Peters, After Request, Gives Two Addresses at the Closing Program.

TELLS TRUTH ABOUT THE JEW

In Afternoon New York Minister Tells What Churches of Today Should Be.

Dr. Madison C. Peters, lecturer, author and minister of New York City, experienced some difficulty in getting right with his audience at the closing program of the chautauqua last evening, after some time had been taken and the audience had been disturbed considerably by the raising of the money to pay for the coliseum, but when he did get under way, he exhibited remarkable ability and talent for lecturing. He gave two lectures in one and did it with such consummate skill, briefness and in such a terse and competent manner that he had won the audience back long before he had finished his first address.

He was advertised on the program to give the lecture on the topic, "The Truth About the Jew" last evening, but in the afternoon he announced that he had decided to lecture on the subject of "Making Things Go," be- cause he thought it would appeal to a cosmopolitan audience more than the other address. At the close of his lecture in the afternoon on "Church For the Times," several people went to the platform and re- quested that he give his lecture which was advertised. He asked what few people who were left if they cared for the lecture on the Jew and they were almost unanimously in favor of it.

The result was that he gave a brief resume of both last night after he had quieted down, following the raising of the money. He was some- what perturbed and agitated by the annoyance from the outside and thought it was the audience. He kindly requested the crowd to be quiet several times, but it seemed, to him at least, that his requests were falling on heedless people as the noise was not abated. He grew angry and said that he could not proceed further with his lecture if order were not restored. A member of the audi- ence informed him that it was the crowd outside and Dr. Peters pro- ceeded to hurl a few hot words at them. Finally order was restored outside with the assistance of many members of the chautauqua associa- tion and Dr. Peters began his lec- ture about the Jew.

He spoke with amazing rapidity of the qualities of the Jewish race which he declared had done more for the United States than any other one na- tionality and which, regardless of the fact, is the most maligned race to- day. He said the race has more great men for its numbers than any other nationality in the United States and has accomplished more as Moses Mendelsohn said, "with their hands tied behind them."

He pointed out the ten command- ments, Moses and the great Mosaic law which is the basis for all law of today, originated from the Jews. He declared that the first white man to land in America was a Jew. Dr. Peters asserted the Jews care for their poor better than any race of people and spoke of the manner in which New York Jews look after the unfortunate ones of their race with charitable institutions and other benevolent methods. He declared that a Jew is scarcely ever found in a poor house, due to their wonderful

Carthage Youths Invent a Glider

Lowell Henley and Hamil Henley have constructed a gliding machine 20 feet long and 5 feet high which may be classed as the a-b-c of the aeroplane, says the Carthage Citizen.

These young men expect to inaugurate a sport that is new to Carthage in general. The ideas and plans for this machine were procured from the Popular Mechanics magazine. The "thing" is propelled by gravity only. To make the glide, the glider is first taken to the top of a hill free from obstruction, then the operator gets in between two horizontal arms sticks and lifts the machine until it is well up under his arms—about the same position as a small boy trying to reach an ice cream soda from a high counter. Then he runs a short distance against the wind and leaps from the ground. If the weight of the body is in proper position, a good flight is assured. To effect a landing, the weight of the body is pushed backward, which causes the glider to tip up in front and slow down. The distance of the glide is governed according to the height of the hill and the glides are made against the wind.

Hamil and Lowell attempted a preliminary flight before their public appearance, but the wind was too strong for any reasonable success.

A word about the construction: the material of the frame is of good strips of wood, bolted in position, and the frame is covered with bleached muslin, stretched tightly and fastened. Then the whole machine is guyed with wire, making it strong and rigid. The vertical rudder is stationary, made so to keep it headed into the wind. The horizontal rudder is to keep it steady in its flight. The glider is now at Shadeland, the farm of Wm. Dill.

Another trial is to be given this week and the general public anxiously awaits the news of their success and appearance, in the meantime wishing the boys to exercise the proper amount of caution, the value of which is well known.

PLANS MILK DEPOT.

Chauncey Poer, who conducts a large dairy at Gwynneville, Shelby county, is considering establishing a milk depot in Indianapolis. Poer was in Indianapolis Friday consulting officials and others interested in pure milk. His plan is to procure the milk at Gwynneville and ship it to Indianapolis every day for distribution from a central station. Poer is the twin brother of David Poer, formerly representative from Shelby county, in the legislature. Many persons greeted him as "Dave" when he appeared at the State house.

RULING HURTS POSTGRADUATES

Attorney General Decides Authorities Are Not Compelled to Provide Courses For Them.

OPINION FOR GREATHOUSE

Holds it is Illegal For Graduates to Proceed Further in High School.

In an opinion to Charles A. Greathouse, State superintendent of public instruction, Attorney General Thomas M. Honan has placed an interpretation upon certain Indiana school laws, which, it is believed, will elicit much discussion and opposition from school officials and others, says the Indianapolis Star. The question deals with the admission of graduate students to further work in the high schools of the State.

Mr. Honan has held that public school officials are not required to receive this class of students for postgraduate work and he has further held that such procedure is illegal. The ruling means that no student hereafter can take postgraduate work in high schools legally.

The question arose in Indianapolis high schools, where many graduate students annually wish to take postgraduate work. Calvin N. Kendall, superintendent of the city's public schools, took the question of the legality of such practices to Mr. Greathouse. The fact that such applicants for admission to high schools are less than 21 years old does not change the complexion of the cases, according to Mr. Honan.

While his opinion does not discuss the question of the legality of school officials allowing students to do postgraduate work if tuition is paid, Mr. Honan said yesterday there was no legal authority for such action, although in his own mind he believed that such a course should be optional with the individual school authorities of the State.

Mr. Honan quotes a part of the Indiana statute in his reply to Mr. Greathouse, as follows:

"Common schools of the State, both elementary and high schools, shall be open to all children until they complete the course of study in said common schools."

He continues:

"The term of the commissioned high school shall not be less than four years but when that term is fixed by the proper authorities and the course for a full term completed by a pupil, such pupil can not compel the school authorities to admit such pupil into such high school for postgraduate work, although such pupil may be under 21 years old.

"I do not believe there is any law giving school authorities the right to conduct postgraduate work. When a pupil completes the full courses of studies prescribed, in my opinion, the school authorities, in the absence of legislation giving them such power, have no authority to permit such person to carry on so-called postgraduate work."

Rushville people tell you how they act.

Samuel A. Brown, 527 W. First street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, for I know from personal experience that they live up to the claims made for them. About three years ago I was suddenly taken with an attack of backache and it steadily grew worse. I could hardly raise my foot from ground and if I stooped, it really seemed as if my back was going to break. When someone advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so and I was certainly surprised by their promptness in relieving me. In three days I was free from backache and felt better in every way. Since then I have procured Doan's Kidney Pills at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store and have seldom been without a supply in the house. Doan's Kidney Pills are worthy of the highest praise."

TO BE MORE THAN AN EXPOSITION

Indiana Apple Show Which Will be Held in Indianapolis Nov. 6-11.

Will be Instructive.

PRIZES WILL BE OFFERED

Commission, Appointed by Horticultural Society, Expects Exhibitors to Get Much Out of Show.

The Indiana Apple Show, to be held in Indianapolis November 6 to 11, is going to be far more than the exposition of fruit. It is to be a school of instruction for orchardists and it will give them detailed information on all phases of apple culture. It is expected that the exhibitors will attend the show in large numbers that they may see and hear for themselves all the exposition has to offer in practical instruction which a grower may turn to profit in his own orchard.

The commission appointed by the Indiana State Horticultural Society to conduct the show expects the exhibitors to get much information and experience out of their preparation for it, especially in picking, grading and packing the fruit for exhibition. The old method of sending a small boy into a tree to shake down the apples, tossing the fruit into a barrel, and emptying the barrel through a window into the cellar, no longer prevails among up-to-date orchardists.

In these days men and boys stay out of the trees altogether. Pruning keeps the head of the tree low, that every apple may be reached from a ladder or platform, and care is taken in placing the ladders that limbs may not be broken. The apples are gathered one by one by hand, and handled as carefully as eggs, for bruised apples not only decay rapidly, but do not bring top prices on the market. In these days it is as important to know how to get apples off a tree as it is to know how to grow them.

There is no fixed rule given for the time to pick, but the time is generally gauged for red apples by their color and yellow apples by the darkening of the seeds. Every day the fruit is left on the trees after it has assumed its color, it approaches just as much nearer its final maturity and deteriorates to a marked degree in its shipping and keeping qualities. The most vital time in apple culture is the picking time.

In picking the promoters of the apple show say, growers must use every precaution not to bruise or cut the skin. Apples should be picked by a twist of the wrist, giving either a slight upward or downward motion at the same time. Few or no stems will then be pulled out. If an apple does not readily come when this plan is tried, it is an indication that the fruit is not ready to be picked. This twisting motion prevents to a large degree the breaking off of fruit spurs.

Cool, dry days are best for gathering apples, for excessive heat or exposure to heavy rains are not conducive to good handling. When gathered on a cool day, apples should be placed under cover at once. If picked on warm days, they should remain out doors over night to cool. Every precaution should be taken to prevent heavy sweating.

The money prizes and trophies that will be offered Indiana growers at the November show will be so rich that the orchardists will find it worth while to follow all of these precautions in getting their fruit off the trees, that the apples may be started to show the with the assurance that they will go on display in good condition.

C. G. Woodbury of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, Lafayette, is secretary of the commission and is distributing information among the growers relative to getting fruit ready for the show.

UNIQUE INVENTION.
CONNEVILLE MAN HAS

Adam Heim has lately perfected an invention for tying hay or straw in bales, says the Connersville News. It does away with the use of head blocks, and precludes the necessity of having any person about the baler to press the wires through. Moreover, it does away with the uneven sizes which so often make bad bales, and it has other advantages which, in the aggregate, are highly important. The contrivance is surprisingly simple, and does its work neatly, accurately and with apparent ease. Mr. Heim has had it of late attached to a real hay baler in his little shop, back of the Eddy tin shop, on south Central avenue. It has worked faultlessly ever since its adjustment was perfected, and the inventor and his friends feel that the practicality of the device is past all question. He has been at work on this contrivance for the past two years. It is perhaps, a more important improvement than is generally known, as the baling of straw and hay is very extensive, and the old method of binding the bales is laborious, cumbersome and otherwise unsatisfactory.

All the friends of Mr. Heim who have seen the invention at work are congratulating him heartily on the completion of a task which they feel sure will be very profitable to him.

The invention feeds the wire from two spools, both on the same side of the labor. The bales, when finished, come out securely bound, the ends of the wire being firmly twisted together, and all are of even length and uniform size.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health. For sale by All Dealers."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. LIVERPOOL IS BATTLE TORN

Labor Trouble Culminates In Fierce Street Fight.

POLICE RESERVES HARD BESET

Hemmed in by Riotous Transport Workers, the Police Had More Than They Could Handle, and the Warwickshire Yeomanry Were Called on, to Clear the Street, Many Being Wounded in the Melee.

Liverpool, Aug. 14.—Sunday afternoon the labor unrest here culminated when the streets were turned into a battlefield. The thoroughfares were crowded in all directions from St. George's hall, outside of which 100,000 transport workers had gathered for a demonstration. The crowd was excited from the beginning, but everything went well until a resolution to fight to the bitter end was carried. And then a comparatively trifling incident started an affray.

The police removed several boys from a window sill upon which they had perched. The act of the police infuriated the crowd, which began to attack them with belts, bottles and stones. There was terrible confusion. The police reserves were called out and an attempt was made to clear the streets in the vicinity of the hall. A detachment of Birmingham police became hemmed in and in short order their truncheons were wrested from them and turned upon them by the crowd. By degrees the police cleared Lime street and dispersed the crowds surrounding the speakers on the platforms. But the fighting continued for some time.

Many were knocked down and had their skulls cracked. Very soon the whole area was in a state of panic. Mounted police were rushed to the scene, which then took on the likeness of a battlefield. Men bespattered with blood lay unconscious on the pavements. A magistrate arrived and read the riot act. After that the Warwickshire yeomanry came on the double quick and soon the streets were cleared of all but the wounded, who were removed to hospitals in ambulances.

ON ITS DIGNITY

The Senate Takes a Hand in Arbitration Treaty Affairs.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Disregarding a request from President Taft for a contrary course, the senate committee on foreign relations agreed upon an amendment to the British and French arbitration treaties, eliminating the provision conferring special powers on the proposed joint high commission. In this form the treaties were reported to the senate and the president's wishes that action be postponed until next December were set at naught.

The senate almost immediately gave two hours to consideration of the treaties, during which the danger of old world dominance on any joint high commission was discussed. No conclusions were reached by the senate, and the general opinion among senators seemed to be that the treaties would receive very little if any further consideration at this session of congress.

NO WITNESSES

But Suspect Had Incriminating Revolver in His Pocket.

Indianapolis, Aug. 21.—Ralph Henry, twenty years old, a chauffeur employed by Willis D. Williams, who keeps a garage at 111 Kentucky avenue, was shot and killed at the garage early this morning. Robert Taylor, fifty years old, who is employed at night at the garage, is under arrest charged with murder.

There were no witnesses and Taylor refused either to admit or deny that he shot Henry. The bullet from a .32-caliber revolver penetrated Henry's skull, causing his death. The police say they found a revolver of the same caliber, with one chamber empty, in Taylor's pocket.

AERIAL MAIL SERVICE

Frenchman Demonstrates Practicality of the Plan.

Paris, Aug. 14.—Pierre Vedrines, winner of the Paris-to-Madrid race, accomplished Sunday the first of ten flights intended to prove the possibility of an aero mail service. He left Issy Le Molineux at 5:07 and reached Deauville, which is near Trouville and 112 miles from Issy, at 6:50. It takes express trains three hours twelve minutes to make the distance. Enroute Vedrines dropped messages at Mantes Sur Seine, Evreux and Lisieux. He received $500 for the flight.

It is necessary for Atwood to reach New York by Aug. 26 in order to win $10,000 offered for his arrival at Coney Island on that day.

ESTRADA AGAIN IN THE SADDLE

His Revolution Against Alfaro Successful.

Washington, Aug. 14.—A revolution overturned the government of Ecuador on Aug. 11, with comparatively few casualties, according to a dispatch received at the state department from Evan R. Young, American minister to Ecuador. President Alfaro, Mr. Young said, was deposed and took refuge in the Chilean legation.

The movement was in behalf of President-elect Estrada, who is expected to arrive at Quito shortly. The president of the senate organized a provisional cabinet and is acting as president. The capital, Mr. Young added, is quiet and orderly.

VACCINATED THEM

Twenty-One Prisoners in Bloomington Jail Had to Bare Arms.

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 14.—There was consternation among the twenty-two prisoners in the county jail here when Ferd Stagg, a Monon trainman, who had been incarcerated for fighting, informed the sheriff that his wife was quarantined at her home with smallpox and that he had been nursing her. Sheriff James Browning immediately called in a force of doctors and had the twenty-two men vaccinated, as all had been exposed by associating with Stagg in the big cage of the jail.

A niece of the Vanderbilts elopes with a chauffeur, showing that speed captures the girls as well as money, a title or a uniform.

It is fortunate that the Canadian election comes as early as Sept. 21, for soon after then the country roads in that latitude become blockaded by snow drifts.

A French army captain has climbed 11,330 feet in his aeroplane, but as it is no easier to get a living up there than down here, why take the trouble to do so far?

As the bathing suit does not seem really to fit until it has shrunk considerably, it is strange that the makers of them do not cut them the popular length to start with.

Admiral Toga has placed roses on Washington's tomb, and now if he will place some burdock leaves on Capt. Hobson's fevered brow, his mission will be complete.

Mrs. Belmont has been entertaining "farmerettes" at Newport, but if a plain ordinary agriculturist went there, the Newporters could hardly tell him from a red Indian.

The American hen should lay 150 eggs a year instead of 80, says the American Poultry Association, but our experience with the American hen indicates that she is a person of very independent convictions and action.

The effort of city improvement now seems to be turning into the path of making the city better to live in for everybody. The best business proposition, it is thought, is to work to make the city cleaner morally and physically. The South Bend Tribune suggests that one feature not to be neglected is the election to office of men anxious to manage the city affairs in the interest of the majority of the public, "and accomplish those other great things which make for a better city." When the better city has been attained, more people, more factories, more mercantile establishments and more business generally will follow.

Last Call on Summer Goods.

The coming week or two is the merchant's last chance to work off his summer stock. But he can get rid of it easily enough if he will use the newspapers.

There is a very large section of people in these days of high living costs, who will sacrifice something of style in order to get things cheaper. They will take their chances on summer goods being out of fashion next June, if they are sure they are getting a price discount.

The modern shopper does not take the bother of nosing around the stores to see if they are offering such discounts. She saves time and also trouble by simply looking into the newspaper advertising columns for the announcement of reductions that she expects at this time of year.

An advertisement appealing to these people is peculiarly effective because the purpose to buy is so nearly formed. All that is needed is the slight additional impetus given by a straightforward statement of some prices and qualities.

What a mournful and solitary scene is the store in August that does not advertise.

Why Read "Ads?"

Advertising is your time-saver, a personal representative, visiting all the shops in the city, examining their wares, securing the lowest quotations on foodstuffs and household needs, clothes and daily necessities.

Advertising is the voice of commerce and invention and science, proclaiming their wares.

Without advertising you would not know one-tenth as much as you do now about styles—or one-tenth as quickly.

You would wait for months until you personally saw these things or heard of them from some one else who saw them.

You would be ignorant of the real merit of the goods you buy.

Because of advertising, all storekeepers know that they must sell at fair prices, since one glimpse through the columns of The Daily Republican gives you current value of every type of merchandise.

Republican advertisers, in other words, presents the ruling quotation on utilities.

It saves time for you—saves money for you.

A recent issue of the Chicago Tribune contained a full page ad in which most forcible arguments were brought out why the public should pay as much attention to advertisements as to the reading matter. Here are a few sentences from that excellent ad:

"Ours is an age of time."

"If you were forced to make a personal trip to the grocer every time you wished to order; if you had to visit every dry goods store in the city in order to find what you wanted to buy, and where you could buy it at the best price; if you were forced to go in person or send a messenger whenever you required a new cook or a new stenographer, you would do less in a year than you now accomplish in a month."

He showed that one Jew did as much financially for America in revolutionary times as did George Washington on the battle field. He said that Jews, more according to their numbers than any other nationality, had fought in every war in which this country has been engaged. He said that they are as good patriots as any citizens despite the fact that they are accused of thinking of nothing but the almighty dollar.

Dr. Peters declared that the Jew got his money as a merchant and manufacturer and not by defrauding the people in illegitimate business enterprises. He spoke of the many authors and musicians who have sprung from the Jewish race. He said that many Christians had lamented the fact that the Jews were not converted and it was his closing thought that the Jews will be converted just as soon as the Christians are converted.

In his address on "Making Things Go" Dr. Peters spoke brief of the elements that go to make a successful man. As the basic principal of the thought which he conveyed, he said that man in order to be a success must get at the right thing. He said that he should find where the bent of his genius lies. The lecturer said that so many fathers make the mistake of thinking that their sons are duplicates of themselves. He declared that men should know whether or not they have the right place after they have been in some avocation for fifteen or twenty years. If they have not struck oil, he said, they are in the wrong hole or their augur is too short.

As the second principal, the successful man must stick to one thing, the speaker averred. He asserted that men who accomplish things are men of one idea. He repeated the names of many great inventors and successful men in all lines of work who have made themselves famous by their ability to stick. He pointed out that man who can do most anything is the man who is generally out of a job. He decried the present conditions of unequal pay for men and women who have the same efficiency to do any one thing. He said that women who found that they could make a living for themselves were not so ready to get married. He said that women who enter a vocation in life with the intention of succeeding and not of waiting until a man comes along to support her, will be more of a success, and by that plan, he declared, more unhappy marriages will be nipped in the bud. He pointed out that ninety per cent. of the men today are alleged to have genius are nothing more than hard workers who stick to the thing which they start out to do.

In order to make things go, Dr. Peters said that a person must be progressive. He deplored the fact that many people follow the band wagon just because their ancestors did it and others vote with the majority and never think for themselves. He referred to many inventors and great reformers of past generations who were laughed at when they first had their big idea. Those are the men, he said, whom we respect today. He warned that no man should be afraid to be laughed at when he is convinced when he is in the right furrow.

Dr. Peters asserted that politeness is one of the necessary requisites to make things go. He told a story of a New York street car incident. He said a sick woman who had just come from the hospital entered the car and asked a man for his seat. The man read his paper and did not heed the request. Another man on the car who was about "four sheets to the wind" arose, offered his seat to the woman and said, "I am drunk and I will get over it, but that fellow's a hog and he never will get over that." He pointed out that it is the successful man who has the smiling countenance and who is the true optimist. The speaker said that in order to be successful, a man should have high purposes and should take advantage of his opportunities. As an example of true optimism Dr. Peters told of the aged woman, who, in a personal experience meeting when asked what she had to be thankful for, arose and said: "I have only two teeth, but thank God, they hit."

Dr. Peters declared that the men who watch the little things are the ones who make a success. He asserted that they are always important and that the little things should always be cared for because it is never possible to tell what they will amount to in the future.

The lecturer said that the man who is thoroughly trained in his work is the man who will tower above the others today. Dr. Peters declared that it is the educated man who has the call today, but, he added, education is not all that is required. But the educated man, he continued, has a better chance.

Dr. Peters said that the man who makes things go must never surrender. He pointed out that in most every case, he who thinks he can, can. He declared that nothing is impossible to the invincible man or woman. His parting counsel to young men and women was to swim off and not allow anyone to put cork under them. It was his closing idea that the dollar mark does not spell success, but that character is that thing which every person should attain.

In his afternoon lecture Dr. Peters made some humor of the remarks of Lincoln Giffin, who asserted that the good wine came last so it was with the chautauqua program. Dr. Peters said that he is a temperance man and he did not know how his friends would take it were they to know that he had been likened to the wine.

He spoke of the church for the times and pointed out its weaknesses. He said that truth today is mighty—scarce. He said that he had genius for saying things that people didn't like, but he declared that he would forgive all people who disagreed with him at the close of the lecture if they would come to the platform and apologize.

Dr. Peters declared that the longing for the divine in man can best be satisfied by advancing Christ. He asserted that the world is tired of the can't phrases and the kind of preaching which presents Christ as the patron of a religion.

The speaker asserted that the Bible is the world's greatest need today and that it must be preached. He said that preachers must be the sharp kind. "We should level our guns," he declared, "at those who fill our pews and pay our salaries. We need practical preaching. It is no use to continue to tell the people to believe in Christ, which they already do. The great masses of our people are realizing that it's more 'church-anity' than christianity. I appeal for the church with the open door and the glad hand."

He spoke of the New York man who attempted to get into a church, but he happened to be not of the upper set which belonged to the church. The elder told him to ask God if he was ready to join church. He went back to the elder and told him that God said to keep on trying to get into the church, for He had been trying to get into it all these years.

He said that the church of today must be a working church. He deplored the fact that church members sing of the sweet bye-and-bye and forget the 'now-and-now.' He pointed out that the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and similar institutions are taking over the work of the church.

Dr. Peters said that the church of today should identify itself with all reform movements of the present. He said that the civil war could have been averted had all of the churches been right on the question of slavery. He decried the fact that church members do not vote on the temperance question as they pretend to. Dr. Peters pointed out that there are six million voting church members in the United States and that they could bury the liquor question if they would. That assertion was greeted with loud applause.

"If the preaching of today were practical," he continued, "many men who are a disgrace to the church would be drummed out and many good men would come into the church. If enthusiasm were exhibited for the church as it is for political parties, the whole world would soon be converted."

Dr. Peters asserted that the church for the times must be a happy one. He said that it should not be a grave one that has the appearance of a hearse. He asserted that most people would have others believe that a member must relinquish all hold on this earth and take a mortgage on the other world.

The church today must be a social church, Dr. Peters declared. He said that the reason so many men in New York are out of the church is because the impression prevails that the masses are not wanted. He says they serve Christianity on ice and the sinner gets chills. He said that was all right, but in New York they close their churches and go to Europe.

FIRST HORSE ARRIVES

Anderson Wilkes, Rush County Horse
Brought Here to Fair.

James Davitt, one of the best trainers of speed horses in these parts, who has been training the Rushville horse, Anderson Wilkes, Jr. took the animal to Rushville Saturday, where he will train him on the Rush county track until the races there next week, says the Greensburg News. Anderson Wilkes started in the 2:30 trot here and pulled down second money without any apparent effort. The animal, which is a great prospect, has only been in track training for four months, showing the skill of Mr. Davitt in handling speed horses. At the Rushville fair he will start in the 2:27 trot.

TRACES LINEAGE TO REVOLUTION

Dr. George W. Hilligoss of Cincinnati, Ohio, Delivers Address at Annual Reunion.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

About one hundred and fifty people were present at the annual reunion of the Hilligoss family at the fair grounds yesterday. Members of the family were present from all parts of the State and a few came from Illinois, Ohio and Kansas. A big basket dinner was served at noon. Dr. George W. Hilligoss of Cincinnati made an address in which he traced the lineage back to revolutionary times. At the close of the meeting new officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: John H. Hilligoss of this county, president; George Hilligoss of the southern part of the State, vice-president, and Bert Osborne of this county was re-elected secretary. The next reunion will be held the second Sunday in September, 1912.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Professor's Ward," a Lubin comedy, will be the first film at the Palace this evening. The other is an Edison drama, "A Thoroughbred." It is a thrilling and sensational picture.

The Portola will have the usual change of program tonight. "A Mexican Rose Garden" is said to be a beautiful picture, with the scenes laid in California. The story is one of romantic interest and is a powerful drama. The Vitagraph drama, "The Sleep Walker" is said to be a very unique picture as well as an interesting one.

The Vandet will show the usual two reels of pictures tonight. The first is an Itala drama, "The Marchioness of Ausperti." The picture is said to be superbly acted and has magnificent settings, the costumes being gorgeous. The other picture is a Yankee comedy-drama, "The Scandal Monger." Leon Maxey will sing the illustrated song.

The Sinclair Company will present this week at the Air Dome, starting tonight, under the auspices of the Uniform Rank, K. of P., the Camera-phone, talking, singing and dancing pictures. The Cameraphone is said to be the latest scientific achievement in the moving picture world and is not the old style of a few people behind the curtain trying to imitate the characters. Such artists as Harry Lander, Mike Donlin, Mabel Hite and many others are heard in their natural voices. The entertainment is said to be high class in every way and should prove a big drawing card.

DEAF MUTE FINED IN POLICE COURT

John Saxon of Near Fairview Pleaded Guilty to the Charge of Public Intoxication.

FIRST CASE OF ITS KIND HERE

The local police court had a peculiar case to deal with Saturday night when John Thomas Saxon, a deaf and dumb man of near Fairview was tried for being drunk. The case was disposed of in a very quiet manner, the transactions taking place in writing. Saxon pleaded guilty and was fined one dollar and costs, which he paid. He was arrested about five o'clock Saturday afternoon by Policeman Walters. Walters found him near the traction station and after some difficulty made him understand what was wanted. This is the first case of its kind as far as is known, that has ever been before the Mayor.

DR. CZAR NOT RULED OUT

Finished Third in Race at Lawrenceburg Fair.

Last Friday in the account of the races it was stated that Dr. Czar, driven by Horrie Brooks at the Lawrenceburg races, was ruled out by the judges after the fifth heat. This was an error as Dr. Czar was not ruled out, but took third money. At the end of the five heats, the horses Igow and Cresco stood for first money and when two horses stand the same at the end of five heats, those two race it off and the other money winners are not ruled out, and the field does not race the sixth heat. Brooks did not start John D. at Greensburg as the 2:16 pace was declared off. He will start this week at Carthage, O.

COLISEUM FUND GROWS RAPIDLY

Committee Announces That $450 Pledged in Private and Public Subscriptions.

HOPE TO REACH THE $600 MARK

About four hundred and fifty dollars has been raised by private and public subscription and collection toward paying for the new coliseum in the city park which was erected for this year's chautauqua at an estimated cost of $1,000. The committee in charge of raising the funds has been making a quiet canvass for the last few days and succeeded in obtaining a number of pledges. Last night a public subscription and collection was taken at the chautauqua and the amount was raised to approximately $450, according to an officer of the association. The committee has a list of names and expected to start out this afternoon to increase the amount. It is expected that at least six hundred dollars will be pledged. It is due in thirty days.

VIEWSON POPULAR GOVERNMENT

Sutherland Deplores Drift Toward What He Calls New-fangled Experiments.

Bourne Declares People Only Can Make Government Truly Representative.

IN one of the most interesting speeches of the session Senator George Sutherland of Utah dealt with the present day drift toward newfangled experiments in government, represented by the so called Oregon ideas, and administered a drubbing to Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of that state, president of the Progressive Republican league.

"Within the last few years," said the Utah senator, "the United States of America has become the field of operation for an amiable band of insurgent smoothsayers, who have been going up and down the land indulging in cabalistic utterances respecting the initiative, referendum and recall and divers and sundry other ingenious devices for realizing the millennium by the ready and simple method of voting it out of the present state of incubation. They direct our attention to the clouds flying above the far western horizon upon which the flaming finger of the Oregon sun has traced in radiant and opalescent tints glowing pathways, shining minarets, stately temples and castles and palaces, pinnacles of gold and caves of purple, and they tell us that these are the visible signs which mark the exact location of the new and improved political Jerusalem, where the wicked office holders cease from troubling and the weary voters do all the work.

"They bid us join them in an airy pilgrimage to this scene of pure delight and assure us that here, high above selfish and mundane things, is the land 'flowing with milk and honey,' where every bird is a songster, where the exquisite flowers of political purity are in perpetual bloom, where 'every prospect pleases' and only the standpatter is vile, where all the laws are perfect and corruption and wickedness are forgotten legends.

"A good many people," Senator Sutherland added, "are accepting the invitation without taking the precaution to secure return tickets."

Calls Them Balloonatics.

Senator Sutherland described the advocates of these newfangled ideas also as "balloonatics," who are carrying all gas and no ballast. Senator Sutherland's speech was aimed chiefly at the Arizona constitution, although he also included the New Mexico constitution within his condemnation. He acknowledged that it was not fashionable to find fault with the political fads which are being intemperately advocated under the claim of restoring government by the people.

"Any one," said he, "who doubts the wisdom of the initiative and referendum, the recall or the direct primary is at once set down by certain self constituted guardians of the people's rights as a 'reactionary' or a 'standpatter,' and only those who accept the whole programme from prologue to epilogue are considered worthy to be called progressive.

"Somebody has defined a standpatter as a man who has stopped and cannot start, and a progressive as one who has started and cannot stop. If these definitions are to be accepted as accurate sensible people will avoid both schools."

Country's Sanity In Danger.

Senator Sutherland declared that between the political quack who thinks only of himself and the political zealot who does not think at all the country is in grave danger of having all the stability and sanity ground out of its institutions.

"We are living in strenuous days," said Senator Sutherland. "Every body seems to be affected in one form or another with the speed mania. To do everything more quickly, to travel faster and faster is the growing obsession of the times, and we are eagerly looking forward to the day when we shall fly through the air without the encumbrance of a gasoline tank, drawing propulsive power as we go from the electric waves which fill the universe with the mysterious energy of their rise and fall.

Too Many New Fads.

"It is not strange that in the universal fever of haste government itself should be swept by this mad spirit of impatience, which has given rise to the new apostle of reform, whose demand is that we shall abandon the methodical habits of the past and go careering after novel and untried things. The speed limit has been taken off, the 'Stop, Look and Listen' signs removed, and the importunate cry is, 'Full speed ahead, get somewhere else than where you are—it matters not where—only in God's name let it be quickly.'"

Senator Sutherland declared that the new fads in government were too many even to count. Every self constituted reformer was bringing a favorite patch to the quilting bee, and when the work was finally completed our scheme of government, he predicted, would be as bizarre as the old fashioned quilt that grandmother used to make.

"It is high time," said Senator Sutherland, "for a reaction to that ancient but discredited common sense which thinks before it acts instead of repenting afterward."

SENATOR BOURNE later replied to the address of Senator Sutherland. Among other things, he said:

"I believe in truly representative government, not a pure democracy, but under the political system which has been built up government is not truly representative and will not be until the people have power to make it so. The initiative and referendum supersede no state legislature; they merely provide the people a means of securing laws which legislatures refuse to enact and of defeating undesired laws which legislatures do enact.

"Senator Sutherland says that 'whenever our present form of representative government proves ineffective or works badly the fault is not with the machine, but with those who are operating it; the remedy is for the people to exercise more care in selecting operating agents.' The people have long tried this remedy; now they will try changing the machinery by providing a few new levers, drive wheels and brakes. The most important difference between the views of Senator Sutherland and my own is clear. He believes the machine is all right, but the fault lies with the people. I believe the people are all right, but the fault lies with the machine.

Believes In Direct Primaries.

"I believe in a direct primary, including a popular expression of choice for presidential and vice presidential candidates. Any man who was competent to choose between Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan in the last election is competent to choose between Mr. Taft and Mr. La Follette in the coming primaries. By adoption of this system political bosses, backed by campaign contributors, will be deprived of the power to select candidates, and thus presidents will be relieved of that embarrassing obligation which the nominee must feel toward those who have placed him in office.

Popular government contemplates that all voters shall participate. The technical work of drafting a measure should be performed by men of skill in that particular, but the people as a whole are the best judges of the principles involved and can be trusted to pass upon the merits. The welfare of states is safe from injury at the hands of men who have never gone beyond the multiplication table. The chief attention of congress in recent years has been devoted to efforts to curb the rapacity of large business interests, to regulate trusts, to control railroad rates, to prevent manufacture and sale of injurious food products, to prohibit corrupt use of money in elections and to simplify court procedure so that the results of litigation shall not depend upon which litigant has the greatest power of financial endurance. Evidently the government has more trouble with men who have gone beyond the problems of Euclid than it has with men who have stopped with the multiplication table.

"The senator from Utah says he favors popular election of senators. At the first election after adoption of the initiative and referendum in Oregon the people enacted a law under which we have chosen three senators by popular vote, the legislature merely ratifying the popular choice. If the senator really desires to secure popular election of senators in his state he should first secure the practical operation of the initiative, after which absolutely nothing can stand in the way of popular election of senators.

"The people of Arizona would better lose statehood than yield their right to control their state government. What a mockery it is to start a constitution with, a preamble declaring 'we, the people of Arizona, grateful to Almighty God for our liberties,' and then harbor for an instant the thought of surrendering or limiting that God given liberty at the instance of any man who happens to occupy temporarily the office of president.

The Man Doesn't Change.

"I see no reason why a man who occupies a judicial position should be governed by laws and standards of public service different from those which apply to legislative or executive officers. Judges are but human. We sometimes elect legislators to the bench, send former judges to the legislature and place judges in executive positions, even elevating them to the highest executive office in the land. A man does not change his standards of ethics when he changes his office. A man who is dishonest or incompetent in an executive or legislative office will as likely be dishonest or incompetent in a judicial office. He who would use his power as an executive in an improper manner or for an improper purpose would exercise judicial power in the same way. In any branch of government he is a servant of the people, not their master, and he should be subject to dismissal by the people after fair opportunity to be heard upon his record. The people elect a judge because of anticipated good service, and they would recall him only for demonstrated bad service."

The message represents the major part of three days' hard work by Mr. Taft, and he has prepared it with the greatest care, revising its text again and again. It is his final word upon the issue of recall for the judiciary and states his attitude in the most emphatic manner possible. It is quite lengthy and is considerably well spiced throughout, as few questions have stirred the president more deeply than that of the recall of judges.

Besides the statehood veto message, Mr. Taft during his three days' stay at Beverly prepared the material for a veto message on the wool bill, which will probably be sent in a few days after the statehood veto.

Spain's Strange Silence.

Paris, Aug. 14.—The absence of news from Spain points to a rigorous Spanish censorship. It was thought there might have been an uprising as the result of mutiny upon a Spanish warship, and the execution of several of the ringleaders.

Municipal Ownership Contemplated.

Atkinson, Ill., Aug. 14.—The city council has granted a petition for a special election on Aug. 24 on a proposition to establish municipal waterworks.

ence is published in the August number of the Journal of Experimental Medicine by Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. The dog lived two years and five months, raised two litters of pups and died from causes in no way related to the momentous operations to which it was subjected to prove the possibility of replanting and grafting vital organs.

The first experiment was made on Feb. 6, 1908. The dog was put under an anaesthetic at 10:12 a. m., and the left kidney was taken out and dissected. The kidney was washed with Locke's solution and immersed in the solution until the surgeons were ready to replace it at the end of fifty minutes.

At 4 o'clock that afternoon the dog was able to walk and drink. The next day the animal appeared to be in normal condition. Thirteen days later the dog's right kidney was extirpated, but the organic functions were performed perfectly by the remaining kidney, which had been taken out and replaced.

The dog continued to live in comfort under the surgeons' eyes. In March, 1909, she mothered eleven puppies, and in December, 1909, she had three more. The following May Dr. Carrel examined her again and found her in excellent condition.

An intestinal obstruction suddenly appeared in July, 1910, and the dog died.

Dr. Carrel also records the successful patching of the abdominal aorta of a dog with a piece of rubber, resulting in the complete regeneration of the extirpated tissue by the adjacent parts of the vessel. The caliber of the aorta, examined fifteen months after the experiment, had not been impaired. Dr. Carrel's conclusion is that under certain conditions a foreign inert substance can be used to repair the walls of a large artery.

THE RECALL PROVISOSOUNDS DEATH KNEEL

President Prepared to Veto the Statehood Bill.

Washington, Aug. 14.—President Taft arrived from Beverly this morning with the veto measure on the New Mexico and Arizona statehood bills stowed away in his luggage.

Though no details concerning the text of the message is obtainable now, it is understood to be confined solely to the recall of the judiciary provision of the Arizona constitution. The constitutions of the two states were so closely linked together for political purposes that New Mexico must suffer debarment because of this provision of Arizona's constitution.

CHAMPION CHERRY EATER.

Denver and Rio Grande President Makes Good His Boast

President E. T. Jeffery of the Denver and Rio Grande, Vice President and General Manager Schlacks of the Western Pacific, General Traffic Manager Hughes and Messrs. Blair, Mason and McCutcheon, three New York bankers, set a world's record at Durango, Colo., as cherry eaters.

The party was taken in automobiles for a ride up the Animas valley. Along the line are many fruit orchards. At the Edgar Buchanan ranch fruit of about every description was found—apples, peaches, pears, apricots, cherries, plums and all the small fruits.

"I believe I can eat more cherries than any man in the world," Mr. Jeffery said to his host, Mr. Buchanan. Messrs. Blair, Mason and McCutcheon took this as a challenge and declared that the only way to decide the question was by an actual test.

Farmer Buchanan brought on five bushels of his best cherries and told the four men to go to them. They did and never stopped until most of the fruit had disappeared. Mr. Blair was first to drop out and was soon followed by Mason and McCutcheon.

"Why, I've just started," said Jeffery and then ate three peaches for good measure. He was then voted the champion cherry eater.

Grew a Full Growth of Hair on a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

FOUR KILLED IN WRECK OF FLYER

Pennsy's Crack Train In Ditch at Ft. Wayne.

WHILE MAKING UP LOST TIME

Celebrated Eighteen-Hour Special Ran Off the Track at Western Entrance to City and Three Enginemen and One Passenger Were Killed and More Than Thirty Injured, Some of Whom Will Probably Die.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 14.—When the Pennsylvania railroad's Eighteen Hour Flyer, while making up lost time, ran off the track at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening at the western entrance of this city, four persons were killed and more than thirty seriously hurt. It is believed at least four or five of the injured will die.

The splendid train of steel cars was half destroyed. The two massive locomotives which were pulling it at sixty miles an hour are a total wreck.

The dead: Engineer—Thought to be either Arrick or Berger, buried under wreckage; Malone, Peter, Fort Wayne, engineer on flyer; Creigh, W., Fort Wayne, fireman on flyer; Snyder —, believed to have lived in Chicago, died in St. Josephine hospital.

Those in the dining car were thrown into a heap at one end as the train left the rails. Someone broke a dining car window and the diner filled with escaping steam, causing a panic in which men fought the women aside until they could get out themselves.

The baggage car, smoker, buffet and two sleepers turned over in the ditch. Most of the injured were seated in the diner and smoker when the accident occurred. In leaving the rails the two engines pulling the passenger train sideswiped a freight train and the three engines piled up in a mass of twisted iron.

By a peculiar coincidence the eighteen-hour flyer was the same train that was wrecked a week ago Sunday near Buffalo, Ind., although no one was killed. Sunday afternoon, a week ago, when the train was near Buffalo, about forty-five minutes after leaving Chicago, the tender jumped the track while going at full speed down the grade from the elevated tracks in Indiana Harbor, dragging the engine and baggage car from the rails. The emergency brakes were applied at once and the train stopped before any of the other cars were damaged. None of the 125 passengers was hurt.

POLLUTION OF RIVER

Johnson County Files Petition Against Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Aug. 14.—A petition has been filed with the state board of health by the board of county commissioners of Johnson county asking the state board to proceed with an investigation against the city of Indianapolis for dumping of sewage into White river, thereby polluting the stream, it is alleged, so as to make it unfit for domestic use by residents of the county. Under a law passed by the 1911 general assembly the state board of health, upon petition in writing, may investigate such a condition and take whatever action is necessary to abate the nuisance. The petition from Johnson county was the result of a meeting of citizens with the board of commissioners recently. Dr. W. F. King, assistant secretary of the state board, said that the board will act upon the petition in the near future.

MANY GIRLS NEEDED

Gary Is Facing a Peculiar Problem in the Labor Way.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 14.—Six weeks from now the Gary Bolt and Screw company expects to place its plant in operation. One thousand hands are to be employed, of whom 500 will be women and girls. Just now the company is figuring where it will get its female help. But one-fifth of the population of Gary is of the gentler sex, and it is feared that if the 500 girls and women are brought from other cities that they will soon leave the company's service to enter matrimony.

The Deadly Live Wire.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 14.—James Nelson Carter, twenty-three years old, a cousin of Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago, is dead at the United States Steel corporation's hospital. While at work young Carter, who was employed in the electrical engineering department, came in contact with a live wire.

DR. GIUSEPPE PETACCI

Physician Who Is Attending Pope in His Present Illness.

CONDITION OF PIUS X IS DUE TO URIC ACID

His Holiness Has Lost Habitual Good Humor.

London, Aug. 14.—The Daily Mail, in a dispatch from Rome, says the pope appreciated the sympathetic telegram sent him by George V. It is understood that the recent inflammation of the pope's throat and the nature of his fainting fits might be ascribed more accurately as a comotose condition due to uric acid in the system. His holiness has lost his habitual good humor and grows morose and sad. He smiles only at his sisters.

Exchange telegrams from Rome say that mass was celebrated in the pope's bedroom Sunday morning. His sisters and his niece were present, kneeling at the bedside. The scene is described as most touching, the pope, after taking communion, saying that he felt better, but when he attempted to get up he found that he was weaker and the doctors would not allow him to walk.

TOGO AND TEDDY

Japanese Admiral Makes a Call at Sagamore Hill.

New York, Aug. 14.—Sunday morning Admiral Togo took a hasty run down to Oyster Bay on a special train to accept Colonel Roosevelt's invitation to luncheon. The ex-president stood on the porch out at Sagamore Hill with his particular smile of welcome and gave the admiral such a handshake as he has not experienced before in America.

After luncheon Colonel Roosevelt had Togo out on the shady piazza and there they talked of many things for a long time. What they said neither cared to state afterward. Nor would Colonel Roosevelt disclose what it was that the admiral brought down with him in an inlaid wood box. It was a present; that was all.

INVOKES THE LAW

Prostration of Miners From Black Damp Followed by Prosecutions.

Sullivan, Ind., Aug. 14.—The prosecutor of Sullivan county has filed affidavits against James Stewart, superintendent, and George Carly, mine boss, of the Caledonia mine, owned by the Monon Coal company, charging Stewart with failure to provide sufficient accommodations for injured men and Carly with sending men into a dangerous place to work and failing to properly ventilate the mine. The prosecution follows the prostration of nine miners from black damp in the mine Thursday.

MEXICO'S TROUBLES

The Magonistas Are Just Now the Principal Bugbear.

Monterey, Mexico, Aug. 14.—The report that there is a force of more than 500 armed Magonist revolutionists camped in the La Guna district, not far from Torreon, is confirmed. Orders have been issued for 900 federal troops to proceed to Torreon. The garrisons of all the other towns in the states of Coahuila and Durango will be strengthened. Advances indicate that complete anarchy reigns at Matamoros, and excesses of all kinds are being committed with impunity.

Wound Ends in Death.

Brazil, Ind., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Tony George, who was shot a few days ago by Selim Albert is dead. Albert, who after shooting the woman because she refused to elope with him, turned the gun on himself and fired three shots through his head, is growing weaker daily, and it is not expected that he will live.

PENNSYLVANIA'S OPEN DISGRACE

Mob Burns Manacled Negro at the Stake.

HORRID DEED AT COATESVILLE

Negro Who Killed a Policeman and Then Tried to Kill Himself Was Taken From Hospital, Bound to His Cot—Fence Rails Were Piled About His Body and the Crowd Watched Awful Work of Flames.

Coatesville, Pa., Aug. 14.—Sunday night a mob of 400 men battered down the doors of the Coatesville hospital, dragged out Ezekiel Walker, a negro, charged with killing Special Police man Rice Saturday night, carried him half a mile, manacled to his hospital cot, and burned him alive.

The lynching was accomplished only after the negro, mad from pain, had leaped from the blazing pyre built over him and tried to escape, dragging the bed by which he was bound by his handcuffs. A crowd of 2,000 watched the mob leaders beat the man with fence rails and force him, shrieking, back into the flames. Three times he bounded up and three times was thrust back, until finally the quivering body fell into the fire. Only then was the mob satisfied. The masked men walked back to the town and a half hour later they had dispersed as rapidly as they had gathered.

The murder of Policeman Rice resulted in a search of the country by a posse which discovered the negro up a tree in a woods. The negro drew a gun, put the muzzle in his mouth and pulled the trigger. The negro fell to the ground. He was carried to the lock-up and thence to the hospital, when it was found that his wound was not of a fatal character. There the mob found him. In the corridor of the hospital Policeman Howe met them with a drawn revolver. He fired two shots, but the mob did not notice it. They brushed the policeman aside and pushed away the hospital attendants, who tried to interfere.

Walker lay helpless on his bed in the right wing of the hospital. Into the ward the leaders rushed, other patients fainting and screaming from fright. Someone produced a rope and they tied the shackled negro to his cot, winding the rope about his feet and underneath the bed. Then a score of men laid hold of the rope and ran down the corridor. Out of the hospital they dragged the bed and the negro with it.

Walker couldn't make an outcry. His self-inflicted bullet wound in the mouth had made this impossible. His eyes glared his terror. The negro's bed turned and rolled, the manacles and ropes digging into his flesh. Chief of Police Olmstead tried to rush through the crowd to aid Policeman Howe, but he was shoved back into the street.

A half mile to the south the men with the rope stopped just opposite the place where Edgar Rice was shot the night before. The men began to scatter in all directions and bring fence rails to where the negro lay bound. Others ran here and there and brought back armloads of hay and straw, which they had picked up from the fields. They piled the hay about and over the cot and Walker. Someone touched a match to the mattress and the hay was soon ablaze.

Then the others piled fence rails over the negro, Walker writhing and struggling against the shackles that bound him to the bed. Suddenly he gave a leap out of the blazing hay. Before then men about the fire realized, Walker had leaped over the fence with the bed bound to his back. The crowd gave a yell. Men with fence rails shoved the bed and the negro back into the blazing hay. Three times did the negro try to escape in this manner. Each time the men with the fence rails shoved him back into the fire. The third time the flesh was hanging from the negro's bones.

WILL TAKE ONLY ONE TRAIN OFF

C. H. & D. Through Passenger No. 30, Westbound, Due Here at 2:14 p. m., Will be Removed.

CHANGE TAKES PLACE AUG. 27

Local Division of B. & O. Will Lose Mail Contracts by Breaking With Monon.

The break between the C. H. & D. and Monon on Chicago train service, which will go into effect on August 27, will affect only one through train out of four, No. 30, which is due here at 2:14 p. m. The night train service will not be affected, nor will the traffic agreement on freight be involved. It is not expected that any other trains will be taken off by the two roads, who had a difference of opinion on the one train. It was first rumored that the break would materially affect the local service.

The break in daylight traffic ties, so far as Chicago business is concerned, between the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the Monon will cost the two roads about 40,000 per annum on mail contracts between Hamilton and Chicago.

The C. H. & D. mail income from the two trains will be affected by the break in relations aggregate about $10,000, while the Monon which has the longer haul, will lose about $24,000.

As soon as the break becomes effective, the government will naturally divert Cincinnati-Chicago mail over other roads, and it is thought by railroads that the Big Four will be the beneficiary, as it has been after this business for years, and has made overtures for it on many occasions.

It was stated recently, according to the Hamilton News-Republican, by officials of the C. H. & D. that no effort will be made to handle the Chicago business that has been handled on train No. 30, which will be abandoned in the event that the two roads cease traffic arrangements on daylight train service.

The Monon, likewise, will cut Cincinnati off the map unless it transfers Cincinnati business to the B. & O. Southwestern at Mitchell, Ind., which is not likely, owing to the close relations between the B. & O. S. W., and the C. H. & D. There is also a possibility that this business will be handled over the Pennsylvania.

The Big Four has not given out what it intends to do, as it will wait for the break to actually take place before it moves.

Latest Reports 21 Killed

Sam Young, living in Perkins street wishes to correct the statement made in last week's paper about finding 17 dead rats in his barn one morning after putting out a small quantity of Hargrove & Mullin Rat Paste. Mr. Young later in the day found four more rats, making a total of 21 killed in one night. Sam only invested 25c for the rat paste and said he was well pleased with results and that he had enough paste left of the 25c box to kill 479 more rats and that he intended doing it, too.

When his body came to the top of the water the first time, he cried out for help and then the many people who were around the camp and many of whom were watching him, realized that his life was in danger. Men rushed into the water from all directions. It is said that one man jumped from the bridge, a distance of thirty feet, to the surface of the water, to his rescue, but was too late. Men jumped from the bridge abutments and others rushed to his rescue from the bank. He was dragged out of the water by Ora Morgan. Corporal M. M. Wells of Shelby county was called.

The campers began work to revive him even when they found that life was extinct. They worked with him for fully ten minutes but their efforts were fruitless. After they had succeeded in getting most of the water out of his body by rolling and using other methods, blood flowed from his mouth and nostrils. His body was shipped here last evening on an I. & C. car and taken to the Caldwell undertaking establishment where it was viewed by a large crowd of people. The body was shipped to Zanesville today to Bryant's parents where services will be held and burial will take place.

According to members of the Adams Construction company and many of the company's employees who live in Zanesville and who have known Bryant since he was a small boy, the drowned man was an expert swimmer. They say that he had always been termed a "water dog" because he was such a good swimmer and liked to be in the water as often as he could. Some of the men say that he had performed many swimming feats in the Muskingum river, a large stream which flows through Zanesville. They declare that they have seen him swim back and forth across that river, which is four hundred feet wide, without any apparent effort. Several times employees of the company say Bryant had dived from the top of the bridge in Zanesville, a distance of ninety feet, into the river.

The Adams Construction Company was just bringing its work in this city to a close and Bryant was counting the days until he could be at home with his parents again. He was intending to leave this evening and had written his mother to look for him at that time. He will go home, but it will be his lifeless body in a pine box which will greet his parents at the depot. He was planning a vacation trip to Cedar Point, Ohio, and expected to leave about next Saturday.

Bryant was commonly known as "Pus" among his fellow workmen. He was an excellent employee, according to Will Adams, president of the Adams Construction Company, and was the only brick-layer which the company ever had who could be depended on to be on duty every morning. He made many friends, especially among the members of his own lodge during his stay in this city. He will be remembered by most people who were not acquainted with him as the athletic young man who has been laying brick on the streets for the last year.

The death of Bryant recalls the drowning of Miss May McFarlan, daughter of Ben L. McFarlan, which occurred in the summer of 1905, near the spot where the accident of yesterday happened. The only difference in the two accidents is that Miss McFarlan's body was not recovered for some time, while Bryant's body was found immediately after he went down the second time. A Morgantown man declares six persons have been drowned in the same hole.

Bryant was a member of the Eagles and Modern Woodmen lodges, the members of which had charge of his body yesterday. He was also a member of the Catholic church.

He was one of a family of three children, a brother and sister, besides his parents, surviving him.

They Provide That All Cars Must Have Three Compartments, Baggage, Smoking and Women's

ALL CARS MUST BE UNIFORM

It is just coming to light that there were some laws passed by the last legislature that escaped the eyes of most of the people of Indiana, or either they read so rapidly that all that was read was not absorbed by the mind.

One of the laws passed was that there should be a uniformity of interurban cars used for passengers and freight traffic in that all should be of the same height, weight and dimensions. The law was passed as an aftermath of the Kingsland wreck near Bluffton, in which forty people lost their lives by reason of a light, low car meeting a heavy and higher one, the greater telescoping the lesser, which was packed with human freight, killing the helpless victims like so many rats in a trap, there being no opportunity for anyone to escape.

A statute in the laws of 1911 legislature declares that every interurban street car must be provided with three compartments, one for the ladies, one for the smokers and a third for baggage. Aside from the three separate compartments the motorman must be isolated from the baggage compartment by a partition. This is done to keep any annoyance away from the motorman, as it is necessary that he give his entire attention to the operation of the car to better insure the safety of its passengers.
